FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF OCEAN BEACH, POINT LOMA, MISSION BAY AND MISSION BEACH

Twenty-second Year No. 21 | Phone Bayview 3157 | Friday, March 10, 1944 | Five Cents a Copy | Ocean Beach, California

COMMENT and RUMOR-

The News columns this week are chock full of ads we are pleased to see and any more would have called for extra pages, however, extra news print and extra labor are scarce so we are compelled, occasionally, to limit the space available for advertising as well as for news items that are not local enough to concern local readers and residents.

Sam Cole, barber, reports he has bought an avocado orchard of more than a hundred trees out La Mesa way, together with a few citrus trees, a good home and well improved place. Mr. Cole will move to La Mesa for the present but has several rental properties that will engage his attention here enough so that he will not lose his civic interest in Ocean Beach and her people.

"Bob" Adams, old time barber at the Beach, was a visitor here Wednesday and according to friends was looking about to see if there was a tonsorial shop for sale or lease at the right figure.

Gordon Burnham at the hardware store next door reports receiving six dozen galvanized iron garbage pails Monday but there has been such a shortage in this line of mdse. that about all were gone within 24 hours.

"And the cat came back—"

According to the latest "Wireless" C. O. Carl, electrical contractor and repair man, will soon be back in Ocean Beach carrying on his old vocation. "Shorty" will receive a hearty welcome from most of us who depended entirely on his knowledge and mechanical ability in keeping our motors running and hooking up added equipment when it was installed. There was no fire hazard or other trouble when Mr. Carl did the wiring, so we shall be among the first to say "Welcome," we're glad to have you back."

Bright sunny weather has been the order of the day in San Diego county this week and feels good after nearly three weeks of intermittent rain. Mornings are cool though, no doubt occasioned by the white clad mountains 50 to 60 miles to east and others 100 miles to the north.

Rev. Hughes Here For Farewell Service

Rev. James F. Roberts, pastor of the Point Loma Methodist church, extends a cordial invitation to all members and friends of the church to a farewell service for Rev. James H. Hughes, former pastor, Sunday, March 12 at 7 p.m.

Rev. Hughes is leaving March 17 for Harvard university where he will receive his indoctrination for the chaplaincy in the U. S. army. There will be a short inspirational worship service led by Rev. Roberts.

After this beautiful candlelight service an informal reception has been arranged by the Women's Society of Christian Service.

Ocean Beach School News

The quarterly election of student body officers put the following students into office: Calvin Burns, president; Dixie Fritz, vice president; Carolyn Sivak, secretary. These student body officers plan and conduct the weekly assemblies and other special student activities.

The new Safety Committee members are: Carolyn Bell, chairman; Beverly Swallow, secretary; Robin Skinner, Marlene Miller, Louis Fleetwood, Roberta Mead, Earl Lewellen, Nick Pizzuto, Nancy Rice, Joanne Bowker, Bernice Goldberg, Mary Jane Hurley, Ralph Mieson, Marlene Black, Dolores Stottman, Jack Keck, Raymond Schroeder, Donald Brock, Jimmy Smith and Joe Hines.

After an interesting and worthwhile trip to the Ocean Beach newspaper office, the sixth graders are writing stories about their trip and are discussing plans for setting up a small newspaper for their room. The committee working upon this project includes Dick Ederer, Clyde Simmons, Judy Stevenson, Hershel Arney, Darlene Contreras, Fred Murray, Bernice Goldberg, and Anna May Mason.

The entire class is trying out for parts in the patriotic play to be given next week entitled "The Spirit of '44." The play centers around the reasons why we should all contribute to war stamps and bonds.

In the recent Defense Stamp and Bond drive, the amount from the sale was sufficient to purchase a "Grasshopper" training plane.

San Diego Padres Practice Saturday

Tomorrow, Saturday, March 11, at 11 a.m. the San Diego Padre baseball club will begin spring practice and the public and youngsters interested in baseball may attend without charge.

Thirty-seven men are in the Padre lineup to start training with practice at Lane field at the foot of Broadway every day beginning tomorrow. W. L. Mead, secretary of the club, says Ocean Beach people will be most welcome.

H. J. Thomas, 1592 Sunset Cliffs blvd., celebrated his 72nd birthday Sunday. He believes he's growing younger as he grows older.

Telephone Companies Give Red Cross War Fund $130,000

President N. R. Powley, the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., Southern California Telephone Co. and Bell Telephone Co. of Nevada, announced that these companies as a group were making a contribution of $130,000 to the 1944 Red Cross War Fund.

Mr. Powley, in making this announcement, stated:

"Our contribution exceeds by over 50 per cent the $85,000 which we gave last year. In our contributing the $130,000 this year, it has been our earnest endeavor to subscribe as liberally as possible to assist in meeting the added needs of the Red Cross expressed by its increased budget for 1944.

"In the great humanitarian work which the Red Cross is carrying on all over the world, human suffering and mental anxiety are being alleviated both on the war front and on the home front. The importance of the work of the American Red Cross cannot be overstressed and its full financial support is the least that we all can do to play our full and effective part in bringing relief and comfort to our magnificent far-flung fighting forces and to those on the civilian front who require aid and assistance while keeping the home fires burning.

"'Our total contribution will be allocated to the various Red Cross chapters consistent with the War Fund quotas of the American Red Cross, applicable to the territory served by our companies."

POINTER SERVICE LETTERS

"While I was stationed in the desert, I flew into Egypt to take a bath and slipped down around the Cairo area for a while. I flew around the pyramids and later went over to a place on the Suez. So I guess I've had my share of traveling—Honolulu to Cairo and the Suez in a little less than two years.

"I haven't seen an orange since I left Gibralter on the way back to England about a year ago. When this war is over I will not be able to get back to California fast enough."

"I am getting a wonderful education, one that money can't buy. I have about seventy-five hours in the air and I am more enthused with flying every day. I now have finished several phases of my training and will be in basic next week. That means that it won't be too long before I receive those "wings", I hope.

"I saw my brother Jerry about two months ago in San Antonio, Texas. It was the first time we had seen each other in three years. He had just returned from the Aleutians."

"What a life! All you do is stand in lines, long ones. We get up at five and go to mess. After mess until ten they choose work details. I haven't been on one yet. If I don't go on a detail I have to march. About eleven we get ready for mess. After mess we have a lecture. Between three and five fifteen we exercise and drill. Then we have chow and go to another lecture. We can then do what we want until nine twenty-five, when the lights go out."

Customs Related Of Foreign Peoples

Dr. Winton B. Oster was program chairman at Ocean Beach Kiwanis Tuesday evening with his father, Elder F. F. Oster, as guest speaker.

Elder Oster is a Seventh Day Adventist missionary who has seen much foreign service, first going to Germany in 1909, then to Persia in 1911, and the last eight years of his missionary work, which ended in 1943, being spent in Turkey. He and Mrs. Oster shipped directly from Cairo a few months since on a Liberty ship and are appreciative of being back in the United States.

Experiences of a missionary family living many years in the old world were hightly interesting, especially the time when the family were held prisoners for a short time in Batoon, Russia, and another occasion when Elder Oster was able to visit Athens, Greece, as a relief agent, since this country was occupied by the German army.

The speaker said there was little burglary and robbery in Persia, due he believed, to the strict registration laws there, where people or families must register and carry their passport when going from one large city or section of the country to another. Great improvements have been made in the last quarter of a century there, with customs and reforms changing living conditions considerably.

Warren Burdine was a visitor to the club, a guest of Lee Woodley.

BLACKWOOD QUARTETTE AT BAPTIST CHURCH SUNDAY

See Planes Crash Over Mission Bay

Several local resident report seeing two planes in mid-air collision over Mission bay near Crown Point Tuesday morning about 9:30. One flier endeavored to free himself and jump with his parachute which was found to be partly open when the body was recovered from the bay. The other pilot went down to his death still in the plane which was recovered from the bay by a navy dredging outfit.

The 11th Naval district announced names as Ens. J. M. Drummond, 24, of Lone Oak, Tex. and Walter F. Armbruster, 20, of Queens, N. Y.

Special Programs To be Featured at Point Loma High

Students at Point Loma high school will be given a special feature in the next two weeks. On March 16th at the regular assembly period, Janet Lush, commissioner of auditorium activities brings a professional movie. This program will be offered as a "pay assembly." Those students who particularly wish to see the movie and who feel they can afford to miss their second and third periods will purchase tickets. Just at this time the selection of film will be either "The Magnificent Ambersions" or "The Devil and Miss Jones." Either picture has definite entertainment value as well as excellent features from the standpoint of acting, stage seatings, scenario writing, and photography.

Exchange Program

A very unusual exchange program will be presented by Bill Hamman, Hoover high school, who has developed the art of sleight-of-hand tricks to the extent that he may be rightly classed as a magician. Bill has kindly consented to bring his show to the Pt. Loma high students on March 23. He will present two half-hour programs. His show is clever, excellently staged, very smooth and professional, and Bill has delightful poise, glib tongue, and keeps his audience "spellbound" with his stunts. Friends and patrons who haven't seen either of these programs might be interested.

Big Show at Stadium

"San Diego Attacks," huge free Army-Navy War show, to be staged the nights of March 10, 11 and 12 in Balboa stadium; is announced as the largest and most spectacular of the many war shows, which have been presented up to date in this country.

Presented by the army and navy, it will stress the long struggle ahead in the Pacific theatre of war and the necessity for war plant workers and essential civilian service employees to "stay on the job to finish the job."

The show will be an exploding, blazing, dramatic spectacle, packed with thrills, embodying the intense action of actual war as nearly as this can be simulated in the stadium.

The fleets of army bombers will swing over the stadium, seemingly dropping bombs. Land mines on the floor of the stadium will blast to create the impression that the bombing attack has been a real one.

The show will be free to the public. Free tickets are now being distributed in war plants and will be available at Red Cross booths, war bond and Victory huts and U.S.O. centers.

During the war show presentations at night, army officials and distinguished war heroes will take part in an impressive grand entry, which precedes the war spectacle. They will be called upon for brief remarks on the necessity that workers "stay on the job to finish the job."

A massed choir of 300 voices will render a straight choral arrangement and a sacred hymn, under leadership of Dr. Earl Rosenberg, of the Polyphonia a cappella choir and the First Methodist church choir.

A great emotional appeal will be lent to the spectacle after the roar of the battle. As the smoke clears, an army chaplain will be seen moving among the dying men, administering comfort and solace. A recessional will be sung, and then a great electric cross projected by searchlights will be formed upon closely grouped marching soldiers, who appear to come from nowhere and vanish on the other side of the field in the darkness of night.

Those who hold tickets are urged to come early. The gates will be opened for ticket-holders at 6 p.m. Those without tickets will be admitted at 7:45 p.m. to fill any available seats that may remain.

Officials also urged that spectators bring blankets, to prepare against the contingency of cool weather, a book of matches for a "surprise" feature on the program.

As a conclusion, a war mother will deliver a stirring plea that everyone "stay on the job to finish the job."

CONGRESS:
Democratic Revolt

Reelected by the senate's Democratic majority as its floor leader after breaking with President Roosevelt on the tax veto, burly Sen. Alben Barkley (Ky.) took back the reins of a balky party, but not without an eye on restoring harmony in its ranks with its principles.

Barkley's break with F.D.R. came as a result of the President's rasping attack on the $2,300,000,000 tax bill, which he said was an "inedible crust" offering relief to "the greedy instead of the needy." It was not the question of the increased taxes but rather of the size and nature of the new levies which promoted the differences between the Chief Executive and congress, and Barkley's position indicated stiffening congressional independence in formulating legislation, rather than an all-out repudiation of Democratic principles.

The same attitude prevailed in the house, where 80-year-old Rep. Robert Doughton's declaration that he "parted company" with F.D.R. on the tax veto set the stage for congressional overriding of the veto.

WAR GOODS:
Sell Surplus

With the U. S. treasury preparing to sell 20,000 horses, 10,000 motor trucks and 4,600 motorcycles released by the army, the Surplus War Property administrator, William L. Clayton, was completing organization of the newly created agency to supervise disposal of all such goods.

W. L. Clayton

Although the treasury already has disposed of 100 million dollars worth of surplus material chiefly to lend-lease and other U. S. agencies, the new unit was established by the President upon recommendation of the Baruch postwar planning committee to supervise sale of excess government goods so as not to glut and disrupt ordinary markets.

Principal task of Clayton's agency will be to determine selling and distribution policies and insist on minimum prices, leaving actual sale of material to the various government departments which originally procured the goods.

EXTEND CCC:
Subsidies Included

With consumer subsidy foes unable to override a presidential veto, the senate passed a bill extending the life of the Commodity Credit corporation until June, 1945, and permitting its use of from 750 to 900 million dollars for payments to hold down retail food costs.

Headed for acceptance in the house, whose banking committee approved similar legislation, the bill also calls for continuation of price-support programs to assure farm production, a feature endorsed by those who opposed consumer subsidies or government payments to processors and others to cut retail prices.

A recent check by CCC showed that only one billion of its three billion dollar funds have been obligated and the remainder are available for extended operations. War Food Administrator Marvin Jones' request for an additional $500,000,000 postwar fund was turned down.

AIR WARFARE:
Hit London

Stung by Allied bombers' destruction of their cities, Germany's once-vaunted Luftwaffe appeared in force over London again after a two-year lapse, blasting the British capital with block-busters that ripped up residential and factory areas.

As the Luftwaffe struck at London, big Allied bombers continued their attack on Nazi war-plane plants throughout Germany, seeking to cripple fighter production and reduce aerial resistance to U. S. and British forces when they open the second front.

From January, 1943, to the same month in 1944, the RAF and AAF lost 3,835 bombers in operations over western Europe, it was announced, with 2,688 of the craft being British and 1,147 American.

Open Fighting

With their lines lying exposed in the broad Roman plains, both German and Allied forces alike came under the heavy fire of artillery and aircraft around the Anzio beachhead, and the enemy's armored moves met stubborn resistance from U. S. and British troops.

To the southeast, wet weather muddied the mountain-sides and slowed up Allied advances against the Germans around Cassino. So bitter was the fighting in Cassino itself where the Nazis clung to part of the town that a U. S. Doughboy with Yankee wit reported to his commanding officer that " . . . Today, we captured a parlor, bedroom and kitchen . . ."

PACIFIC:
Closer to Tokyo

Surging beyond Japan's crumbling outer Pacific defenses, U. S. carrier forces struck within 1,400 miles of Tokyo to blast at the Mariana islands, so called gateway to the enemy homeland.

While planes from the carrier force ripped Jap defenses in the Marianas, other U. S. air and naval units continued hammering down enemy resistance in the New Britain area, blasting shipping centers used as feeder points for barges supplying embattled Nipponese troops in South Pacific outposts.

As U. S. naval and air forces tore up the Marshalls, Carolines and Marianas, the enemy's vaunted navy and aerial auxiliary still showed no face to scrap, with the Tokyo radio telling its listeners that the Jap chiefs will order a fight only after drawing the U. S. from its bases.

ARMY BEEF:
Small Plants Tapped

To assure the military services of needed supplies, the War Food administration prepared to order 3,000 small packing and slaughter plants and local butchers to set aside 50 per cent of their "army style" beef beginning April 1.

At the same time, WFA announced manufacturers of cheddar cheese will be required to reserve 45 per cent of their March and 55 per cent of their April production, compared with 35 per cent for January and February.

Since the small packers and butchers sold their entire output to civilians, their reservation for the services is expected to cut into domestic supplies. Previously, the government obtained its beef from about 425 federally inspected plants, but decided to tap the other sources upon the belief that more than normal numbers of cattle were being marketed in the smaller centers.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

BUGLE: Plastic materials have solved another problem—this time in the brass musical instrument field. The army has been short of bugles because of a scarcity of brass. A plastic bugle has been developed that sounds as sweet as the metal ones. Besides that, it is only half as heavy, needs no warming up on cold mornings, and costs less to make.

MARS PLANES: The naval air transport service will put 20 of the new model Mars planes into service as soon as they are finished. The new JRM-1s are primarily designed for cargo carrying, but are quickly convertible to use as hospital ships or troop transports. They can carry 145,000 pounds of cargo, such as field guns, jeeps or engines, or 132 men as transports.

Clothes Help Fight World War II In Frigid Arctic Areas

It has been said that "clothes make the man." It takes more than clothes to make a soldier. But since he must fight in the frigid temperatures of the arctic, his clothes must be designed to keep him warm enough to think and fight efficiently whether he is bucking a North Atlantic wind or an Aleutian island snowstorm as in the pictures above.

Winter clothes are developed by the army quartermaster corps. A volunteer is shown walking in an arctic room. Cable is attached to a body harness.

The potentiometer measures body temperatures in a few seconds. On the floor in above picture is a sleeping bag containing a soldier wearing a harness. Room temperature is 40 degrees below zero.

HERBERT HOOVER AND POLITICAL HISTORY

TO ME the dominant character in America, the man whom I, personally, should most like to see as President of the United States, is Herbert Hoover. I have no expectation of seeing him again occupy the White House. I know he does not want a nomination to any public office and doubt if he would accept one for any office if it were tendered. His place in America today is that of an influential citizen; to me, the outstanding elder statesman. With that statement as an introduction, I will recount some bits of political history in which Mr. Hoover figured and as I saw them in the making.

In the 1932 campaign, Mr. Hoover knew long before the votes were counted that he was beaten. Much against his personal wishes, he took to the stump in an effort to soften the blow as much as possible. Members of the Republican "old guard" in charge of that campaign were even less than disinterested in Hoover's election. They were devoting their efforts to their own cause, and several of them were not successful.

Four years later, at the Cleveland convention, I spent a portion of an afternoon reading an address Herbert Hoover was to deliver before the convention that evening. After reading it, I said to him:

"You do not want the nomination to be made by this convention but you will have it if you do not leave the platform and the building immediately after the completion of your address this evening."

He did not agree with my statement as to the effect of the address on the delegates, but he did leave the platform and the building the instant the last word of that address was spoken. The demonstration that followed was a tremendous ovation. Competent political experts assured me that had he remained and so inspired the continuance of that ovation, he would undoubtedly have been the nominee.

Again, four years after Cleveland, at Philadelphia, Hoover was to, and did, address the convention. An element, with a favorite candidate, remembered the Cleveland incident. They knew it was not the way Hoover said things, but what he said that swayed his audience.

They were taking no chances on the effect on that audience of delegates. The instant the Hoover address began, the loud speaker system went out of commission and remained out until Mr. Hoover finished talking. No one in the auditorium heard what he said. It marked the end of any Hoover influence on that convention.

From his hotel, immediately following the completion of his address, Hoover announced he did not wish to be considered a candidate for the nomination and his name was not presented. The evidently planned failure of a loud speaker system had marked the end of the political ambitions or expectations of a great American. To me the loss was that of the nation, but as a distinguished citizen, as an elder statesman, Mr Hoover exerts a tremendous influence on American thinking.

Six months before the Philadelphia convention, Representative Joe Martin, then chairman of the Republican National committee, asked me to name my choice for the nomination. I named Herbert Hoover.

"If he could be nominated, we could elect him," Martin said.

Some one, or some group, had taken no chances on a dark horse nomination.

FOR LAST OCTOBER THE NATIONAL CONFERENCE board reported that a fraction more than one of each two people, men, women and children, in the United States was gainfully employed. The total of 63,612,000 had a paying job of some kind. It is these workers of today and those of the tomorrows who must, in time, pay off the national debt. On October 31, 1943, the average for each worker amounted to $2,595. What the workers of today do not pay will be left as an inheritance for their children, the workers of tomorrow. At the present time the debt is increasing at about $100 per worker per month.

WHAT WE DO, how much we accomplish, is a subject for pride, not how much we spend. The fact the government spent 88 billions of dollars in 1943 is not, of itself, something to boast about though it is an all time spending record and represents more than the total cost of government for all of our first 150 years, including the financing of all previous wars.

THERE IS NO INCENTIVE to produce when all the profits of production are taken for taxes. That marks the vanishing point for the tax collector.

EXPERIENCE IS BETTER than theory, though that is not admitted by Washington bureaucrats who have only theory.

Early Thought.

A BIT early, perhaps, to speak of graduation frocks, but the lovely young miss no doubt already is thinking of the time when she will want one of the prettiest, most youthful of frocks that she has ever possessed. This one is a love and can be used as her nicest dance dress later on.

Meals Without Meat

Vegetables can be filling, too! If you are working on menus without meats, you can still give your family foods that will give them plenty to put their teeth into—foods with that stick-to-the-ribs quality.

Vegetables will give you minerals and vitamins aplenty. Some of them will even supply some quantities of protein, but fortify these foods with complete proteins from milk, cheese and eggs. There's not a recipe in today's column that will not satisfy your desire for color and zest.

An old favorite, bean roast, is especially good at this time of year. It contains no meat, but tastes as though it certainly had some:

Cheese and Bean Roast.
(Serves 5)

1 No. 2 can kidney beans
½ pound American cheese
1 onion, chopped fine
1 tablespoon butter or substitute
1 cup bread crumbs
Salt and pepper to taste
2 eggs, well beaten

Drain the beans and put them with the cheese through the food chopper. Cook the onion in butter. Combine mixtures, add seasonings and eggs. Pack into a buttered loaf tin and cover with buttered bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 to 35 minutes or until browned. Serve with tomato sauce.

Save Used Fats!

Eggs are dipping down in price and can be used generously as in the following recipe:

Creamed Potatoes and Eggs.
(Serves 6)

3 cups diced, cooked potatoes (left-over potatoes may be used)
6 hard-cooked eggs
1½ cups milk
2 tablespoons butter or substitute
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon salt

Make a white sauce by melting butter, adding flour, and mixing in milk. Cook until smooth and thickened. Add salt, potatoes and eggs cut in slices. Let heat thoroughly. One-half cup of grated American cheese may be added for topping before serving, if desired.

Save Used Fats!

Asparagus and Cauliflower With Rarebit Sauce.
(Serves 6)

2 tablespoons butter or substitute
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup grated American cheese
Few drops Worcestershire sauce
Cayenne
2 bunches cooked asparagus
1 head of cooked cauliflower

Lynn Says

Food Supplies: Sweet potato supplies this year will be good, thus bringing them within the range of every family in the country.

Potato supplies will depend on the May crop. Dried beans, peas, soy flour and grits, and peanut butter prospects are good. Sugar supplies will be about the same as last year, but more will be given for home-canning.

Fair supplies only of these foods are indicated: vegetables, cheese, cream, butter, ice cream, beef, honey, jams, jellies, rice, salad oils, salad dressings, shortenings, tea, cocoa and marjoram.

These foods will be scarce: onions—until April, bananas, canned fruits, lentils, fresh fish, white cornmeal, corn syrup, hominy grits, coconut, pineapple, celery seed, cinnamon, thyme, black pepper.

Make white sauce of butter, flour and milk. Add cheese, seasonings and stir until melted. Pour over asparagus and cauliflower arranged on platter. Garnish with pimiento strips and parsley.

Eggs make splendid, nourishing food for lenten meals. Treat them gently — not too fast cooking and the egg will reward you well in texture and palatability:

Spanish Eggs.
(Serves 4)

2½ cups tomatoes
½ green pepper, chopped
1 small onion, chopped
½ cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 bay leaf
¾ cup bread crumbs
4 eggs
½ cup grated American cheese

Cook tomatoes, pepper, onion, celery, sugar and seasonings together for 10 minutes. Remove bay leaf, add crumbs and place in casserole. Break eggs on top, sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with grated cheese. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) until eggs are firm and cheese has melted, 15 to 20 minutes. Mixture may also be placed in individual baking dishes.

Save Used Fats!

Eggs With Spanish Rice.
(Serves 6)

1 cup uncooked rice
2½ cups cooked tomatoes
½ small onion, sliced
¾ teaspoon salt
1 bay leaf
2 cloves
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 tablespoons flour
6 eggs
2 tablespoons grated cheese
½ cup buttered bread crumbs

Cook rice in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain and rinse with hot water. Simmer tomatoes, onions, salt, bay leaf and cloves for 10 minutes. Strain. Blend butter with flour in saucepan and add strained tomatoes, stirring constantly. Cook until thickened. Arrange layer of rice in greased casserole and make six depressions in rice. Break eggs into each depression, then pour tomato mixture over all. Sprinkle with cheese and crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until eggs are firm.

Save Used Fats!

Egg Shortcake.
(Serves 6)

6 hard-cooked eggs
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 teaspoon minced onion
Biscuit dough (using 2 cups flour)

Melt butter, blend in flour. Add cold milk and stir constantly, cooking until thickened. Add salt and pepper, five coarsely chopped eggs, onion and parsley. Heat thoroughly over hot water.

Prepare biscuit dough and roll ½ inch thick. Cut into 12 biscuits and bake these in a very hot oven until browned.

Arrange biscuits, one topping the other with a spoonful of creamed eggs between them. Top with more creamed eggs and garnish with a slice of egg.

New Hats Are Pretty, Flattering, And Artfully Tuned to Hairdos

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

VIEWING the new spring hats that are now stepping out on parade in spectacular array, one carries away the feeling that not one whit of the appeal which pretty hats have for the American woman is being sacrificed this season, even though designers are so patriotically conforming to wartime psychology and conservation. The displays which include models designed for every occasion and every individuality go to prove that never is there a limitation to design in the millinery industry.

In these advance showings it is especially interesting to note with what complete unity hats and hairdos meet this season. Be the hairdress a rolled chignon, pompadour reduced to a minimum, as is the present tendency, or a long bob that replaces the upswept hairdo or the new flat-top part, milliners are seeing to it that this season's hats be styled to tune to modern hair dress of every type.

One of the messages that current hat displays convey is the all-importance of bonnets of varied description. Wearing pretty dainty bonnets, women will again be the all-feminine creatures that man's conception would have them be. Some of the new types are just half bonnets; others remind you of Victorian days, and some are girlish and simple which brings us to the cloche. That favorite of decades ago is now back again with a 1944 twist.

Sailors are very much in the limelight, too. You can have them with squatty crowns that fit the head or with tiny flat beret crowns, or with important postilion crowns. Some have diminutive brims, others take on width ad infinitum.

As to after-five headwear fashions, they are apt to make up in color excitement what they lack in dimensions. Flowers are definitely a part of present day millinery. One thing clear in millinery forecasts is that you won't look right after five without a hat—it's a fashion must.

The hat fashions herewith illustrated carry the message of very lovely and flattering headwear for this spring and summer. Centered above in the group is a stunning suit hat that features the new high crown. This chic Helene Garnell model in black felt emphasizes its tall crown with contrasting "wampus" beading. The crown is shot through with a long quill in "shocking pink."

The large black straw tricorne is bordered in tulle and ties under the chin with a wide shocking pink satin bow.

Above to the left is a dinner hat by Mme. Pauline. Blooming with pale pink primroses, it breathes the very breath of spring. Primroses scatter over the widow's peak and over the lacy mesh snood.

To the right above a nosegay cocktail hat by Helene Garnell is in French blue felt garnitured with colorful roses, lilacs and hyacinths.

For the hat below to the right Anita Andra fashions a coquettish crescent of emerald green moire. To flatter a pretty face, two roses are placed one high, one low in effective pose.

The smart pink shantung straw hat below to the left is styled with an open back. Shining black passementerie medallions are appliqued on top of the brim and to each side.

Companion Topper

For a really truly wise investment a suit-and-topper ensemble, as illustrated, is without question a "best buy." This model is beautifully tailored of gray flannel. Gray, by the way, is not only a highly favored color for spring, but some of the smartest new prints to be worn now under coats and on through the summer sans wrap have gray grounds. The jacket to this suit features a collarless neckline with three plastic buttons down the front. The companion topper in the same fabric completes the ensemble. The topper may be worn separately over dresses, which means saving the expense of buying a spring topcoat. Huge buttons as here shown will be very much in evidence this spring.

Dramatic Use of Color In Spring Apparel

If there is one word more important in the fashion story for spring that word is "color." Lime, tangerine, citrus, saffron, lilac and purple are some of the lush colors scheduled for wool suits and coats (especially the short-length topper versions). Exquisite pastels, too, register ace high on the color list. It is not, however, that all the laurels go to the colors themselves. Rather is it when two or more high shades stage a get-together in a single costume that one sees a very delirium of color enchantment. And that is exactly what is happening this spring. Designers are working the most amazing color combinations and with the utmost success. For instance, you will see such out-of-the-ordinary teamwork as orange-red mating with emerald-green, or purple will be used with orange in true Mexican color technique. Tricolor schemes are being especially worked out in the new bolero suits. The color formula goes somewhat like this—black or navy for the skirt, purple or fuchsia for the bolero, orange for the gypsy sash. Teenagers love this sort of thing.

Novelty Note This Season Is Hand-Painted Decor

Handpainting on fabrics, on felt or straw hats, on handbags, belts and gloves is making a most flattering contribution to fashion this season. Just a touch of artistry done with brush and paint, and a simple fabric is turned into a material of beauty and distinction. Many of the new blouses are decorated with hand-painted florals. Also such whimsical ideas as a trio of butterflies painted on the bodice top, are carried out. Sometimes a flower cluster is painted, one on the blouse or bodice, the other on the skirt.

Textile Industry Older Than Recorded History

Older than any recorded history is the story of the great textile industry. Its beginning was in the earliest Stone age when man used hieroglyphics on the rocks of his caves to acquaint archeologists with his mode of life. During these prehistoric times fabrics, more or less perfect, were being fashioned, ornamented and dyed. Evidences of spinning and weaving are found among the vestiges of prehistoric man in the Far East and Continental Europe.

Some historians tell us that it may have been contemporaneous with the discovery of fire for cooking and the building of shelter. Flax fabrics dating back thousands of years ago have been unearthed in England. Ruins of the Lake Dwellers of the Stone age in Switzerland have produced them. Beautiful textiles made thousands of years before Christ have been discovered among the early ruins of Peru, Mexico and Egypt and in the caves of New Mexico and Arizona. The Navajo Indians were perhaps the first weavers in North America. They are large sheep raisers.

The textile industry in America began as soon as the first settlers landed. Many of these settlers from England where a knowledge of spinning and weaving existed in every household, brought with them spinning wheels.

New Winch Promises to Be Boon to Farmers

With a new hoisting attachment that permits the versatile "Jeep" to "pull itself up by its bootstraps," the darling of servicemen bids fair to become an even more useful tool around a postwar farm than its ardent enthusiasts anticipate.

Designed primarily by Willys-Overland Motors to enable the blitz-buggy to extricate itself or other army vehicles from deep mud or mire such as the Allies are encountering in the present Italian campaign, the rotary pulling mechanism—technically known as a vertical winch—has a minimum hauling power of 2,000 pounds when mounted on the front end of the scout car.

When swords are beaten into plowshares, predicts Ward M. Canaday, president of the auto firm, farmers will find the new device of great help in removing stones, stumps and brush to provide new acreage for cultivation.

Adding but 60 pounds to the road weight of the scout car, the winch is driven by the Jeep's 63-horsepower engine from the front-end of the crankshaft. A declutching mechanism makes the pulling accessory inoperative when not in use.

Starter Solutions Aid In Growth of Tomato

Starter solutions, which are popular with tomato growers in some parts of the United States, stimulate root growth and overcome the shock of transplanting quicker according to the Texas agricultural experiment station. This encourages earlier maturity of the fruit, and usually increases the yield.

It should not be presumed that the use of such fertilizer material will replace the usual practice of drilling fertilizer into the rows prior to planting. Actually it is a supplementary practice which often proves profitable.

Experiments conducted the past few years have indicated that a number of different fertilizer materials may be used in preparing starter solutions. Chief among these is a mixture of two parts Ammo Phos and one part nitrate potash, but since these materials are off the market for the duration, a mixture of equal parts of di-ammonium phosphate and mono potassium phosphate used at the rate of five pounds to 50 gallons of water will give good results. The solution is used at the rate of one-quarter pint per plant at the time of transplanting tomatoes.

Auto Paint

Paint used on a typical 1942 passenger automobile, with accessories, was estimated at 81.40 gross pounds and 26.38 net pounds.

Sale of Easter Seals, proceeds of which are used in aiding physically handicapped boys and girls in the area served by the Crippled Children's Society of San Diego county, begins this week with the mailing of colorful little stickers to thousands of home. This campaign for funds is conducted annually by the society in the period preceding Easter.

The Seals are mailed in sheets of 100, and recipients are requested to purchase them at the rate of a penny each. In each letter is a leaflet describing the society's humanitarian efforts for crippled children and the increased needs resulting from the area's growth in population, and an addressed envelope for enclosing remittances.

Mrs. Carrie H. S. Crokat, of La Mesa, secretary of the society, has accepted the chairmanship of this year's sale. She served in the same capacity last year.

'Banks' on Elevators and Cranes Serve Naval Men

In the naval clothing depot in Brooklyn, a New York bank cashes checks and receives deposits on pay days through tellers who work in portable cages set up in the elevators to facilitate going from floor to floor, says Collier's.

In the navy yard near by, other tellers likewise serve workers, from movable offices that are carried by cranes to the various "banking locations" around the yard.

THE STORY THUS FAR: Lieut. Col. Frank Kurtz, Flying Fortress pilot, tells of that fatal day when the Japs struck in the Philippines. The ground is covered with the skeletons of U. S. planes. No longer safe to sleep in barracks, because Japs are photographing Clark Field, cots are moved into a cornfield, which is later bombed by Japs. They evacuate to the island of Mindanao. Harry Schreiber, the navigator, now takes up the story, telling how two Fortresses out on a mission to get a row of Jap transports are attacked by a swarm of Zeros. They crash land in a rice paddy on Masbate island, buy an outrigger canoe, sail to isle of Panay and later get to Australia.

CHAPTER VII

"Well, it was nice, for a few days, to be out of danger—to start getting our dozen planes overhauled.

"As quick as we could, we began flying missions. Each Fortress had brought out about fifteen men from Del Monte, and they got to work putting the planes back into shape. But the missions were terribly long. It was seventeen hundred miles from Darwin back to Del Monte—almost as far as from New York to Denver. We'd leave Darwin in the morning, fly all day, land at Del Monte after dark to be safe from the Japs, service the plane, eat, catch a little nap, and then gas up in time to be off for an early morning bombing of the Jap invasion fleet off Luzon. Then back to Del Monte—it was daylight now and risky as hell, so get in quick, gas up, load bombs, and get the hell out fast and away to an afternoon target, coming back toward Del Monte in the darkness, thank God, when no Jap pursuits are hanging around, arriving about midnight, a cat nap again, gas up, and you're off for Australia.

"Think of the pilots and crews going through that grind day after day. You might fly eighteen hours straight and be out of the cockpit for only one of them.

"And yet the thing we dreaded most was Christmas. It was right ahead of us now—Christmas in defeat and on this barren, hot, dusty desert field, with no word or mail from home and no way to get word back to them. We'd send cables we knew would never be answered, because we could give no address."

"I'll put my Christmas up against the one you had," said Frank, going on with his story. "We were all feeling low. We knew there would be no letters or packages or even cables for us, so it was natural that on this hot, dry, dusty, sun-scorched Christmas Day some of us should wander over to the Australians' radio shack, just to see what little word from home we could pick up on the air.

"I should say that part of us were gone on a mission into the Philippines; two Forts, including George Schaetzel, and they now should be on that dreary, nine-hour drag back to Batchelor Field. We hoped none of them would be shot down on Christmas Day.

"The Australians were damned nice to us. They let us watch them open their packages and handed us their Christmas cards to read, and then they'd say, 'What part of the States are you from, Yank?' so we could tell them about our own families and wives or best girls if we wanted to—and most of us did. But we kept wondering about that mission, although we didn't talk about it. And of course we didn't know they had run into serious trouble, hit by Zeros at high altitude, and that Schaetzel's plane during this Christmas Day fight had been given a burst of machine-gun fire right through his radio compartment. Sergeant Killian, his radio operator, was shot through the top of the head as he was helping the gunners reload—picking up new ammunition cans full of .50-caliber belts and handing them up, and taking back the empty cans, while the gunners pounded away at the Zeros.

"Two others had been badly wounded by the same burst, and since this was at high altitude, it was very serious. Because maybe the boy topples over so that his oxygen mask falls off. There isn't much you can do for a wounded man during combat at high altitude. When you have wounded men aboard, you try to get down to at least 10,000 feet as soon as you can, so they won't be under the strain of breathing through oxygen masks.

"But there were Zeros still below them. One of the Fort's prime defense weapons is altitude, and George knew if he broke away from formation and dived down alone, he stood a very good chance of being picked off.

"So he did the right thing—stayed with the formation, only it was a hell of a hard decision to make on Christmas Day, with those poor wounded men in back, fighting for breath in the high air.

"We knew nothing of this yet, but already we were feeling pretty low, and the Australian radio operator was twiddling his dials trying to get us a program from the States so we wouldn't be homesick. We hoped maybe we'd get just a homely description of what kind of a Christmas Day it was in a typical American town that might be any of ours, and how the snow crunched under the feet of the people walking up on porches to deliver Christmas packages, and maybe hear the real American voices of some real American girls in a Christmas choir singing 'Holy Night' or 'O Little Town of Bethlehem' or some of the other old-time songs.

"What we got instead was a lot of politicians doing their stuff on war aims. They were from all over the world, sounding off all over the dial, and we argued with those Australian kids as to which ones were the corniest, theirs or ours. They insisted theirs were, but we couldn't agree, because ours were all stuffed full of roast goose, optimism, plum pudding, hard sauce, and production figures.

"But something was coming in over the CW radio (Continuous Wave, or Dot-Dash) and the Australian with the earphones on, after writing it down, instead of sending it in to his commanding officer gave me a queer embarrassed look and handed it to me. And my heart thumped, because I thought it just might possibly be from Margo, although I didn't see how it could be.

"It was from Schaetzel. He'd waited until he flew out of the danger zone before breaking radio silence. He said he'd be in after dark with one body aboard and to have the ambulance on the stand-by at the field. That meant there were more wounded. It finished Christmas for us. We didn't say much, and neither did the Australians. But pretty soon one by one we got up and wandered out of the hut.

"When Schaetzel got in, his plane was so badly shot up that we decided to call it a wreck. It was a toss-up between his plane and Lee Coats', which was also full of bullet holes, but looking them both over, we decided Schaetzel's was somewhat the worse. We just had to have a wreck on the field to serve as a spare-parts reservoir to keep the other planes in the air. The old Swoose, here," and he jerked his thumb backward, "still has those tail surfaces we took off that plane. We needed everything, but most of all, we needed bomb-bay gas tanks.

"Of course we were in terrible shape. The old 19th Bombardment Group had lost two-thirds of its original strength in three weeks, and we were now reduced to about a dozen planes—about enough for a decent squadron. But there was one hopeful fact: of the two dozen odd we had lost, only two—Colin's and Jack Adams'—had been shot down in combat by the Japanese. The rest had been blown up on the ground or, like Wheless' plane, had been wrecked on the beach to save the crew when it didn't have the range to get home.

"And just about the time we were adding up this score and wondering what would happen to us next we found out, for without warning General Brereton landed on the field, and we were immediately summoned to a meeting in Operations.

"He's a tough, quick, cocky, fighting little Air Force officer who doesn't like to sit down when he's laying out plans or giving orders, and standing there before us, his shoulders reared back, he lined us out.

"He told us the United States Army Air Force of the Far East, of which he was commander, was moving all its bombers to Java, and at once. Its main base would be on a field near the city of Malang. From there we would operate out of advanced bases already prepared by the Dutch on the outlying islands of Borneo and the Celebes. From these our first missions would all be concentrated on breaking up an immense concentration of Jap transports which was gathering at Davao Bay, on the southern tip of the Philippines.

"But as he talked we got curious. Just how big was this American Air Force of the Far East which the General commanded, and whose task it was to smash the Japanese in the Philippine Islands so they couldn't reach out to the Dutch East Indies? The 19th had started out as a Group, commanded by a colonel. Its strength was now practically one squadron, an adequate command for a major in peacetime. Just how many Groups would this two-star General have at his command for this four-star task ahead?

"But there was big news for me. Ever since the loss of Old 99 I had been a planeless pilot—a kind of ghost walking with the living, a head without a body.

"But now Lee Coats was to go with the General to Brisbane as engineering officer, and I was to take over his plane and crew for the Java war. Now at last was my chance to settle the score for Old 99."

"From Australia to Java is a full day's work even for a Fortress," Frank went on, "but the weather was fine, and all of us were feeling great. The ocean was a deep blue, and we were constantly passing over islands, green with jungle growth, which are practically steppingstones connecting Asia with Australia.

"The last one of all was maybe the most beautiful—the famous island of Bali, just before you get to Java—and as I saw it coming ahead over the horizon, I couldn't help thinking about those pictures of it you used to see on the round-the-world cruise folders. Always on the cover was a color photograph of a beautiful golden-brown sixteen-year-old girl with a wicker basket on her head and a printed cotton sarong gathered low around her hips and nothing much in between except a completely unself-conscious smile.

"I was feeling pretty good, and I guess the crew was too. You see, we'd been on the alert for six weeks and not so much as an hour's leave for them to go into any town for even a glass of beer.

"Java in the late afternoon was as beautiful as anyone had ever promised it would be—rich green velvet, except where the sloping sun gleamed on the rice paddies, or burned the standing water gold against the soot-black mud.

"We flew over the big seaport city of Surabaya and straight on toward the smaller city of Malang sixty-six miles away, which was to be our base. To get there you have to climb a little and then enter through a narrow mountain pass, which usually is filled with clouds in the afternoon, like a thick cotton stopper in a bottle. At least later it served to keep the Zeros out.

"They'd told me the field was well camouflaged, but because they'd laid it out for me carefully on the map I had no trouble in finding it. It was a better job of camouflaging than anything we'd ever dreamed of in the Philippines. Looking down on it from altitude, you took it to be just an ordinary tilled field. There was what looked like a cornfield almost across the runway, and in addition a fake railway line crossing it. I even had difficulty in picking out the hangar roofs, so carefully were they painted into the tropical vegetation.

"We crossed it, turned, circled, and landed. The Dutch weren't even using their radio to bring us in for fear of giving away the location of that beautifully hidden field. They brought us in with a flash gun, and luckily I could show my new crew the precision-type landing required on that grass field which was later to prove tough as hell. We came in in the usual soft Javanese afternoon rainstorm, and of course I didn't dare apply brakes as you would on macadam. I was to find it was a tricky job getting off and on that slippery turf with a full load of bombs.

"The boys were of course in a lather to get into town, but first there had to be the usual pilots' meeting, and it's always the same—I don't care who the officer is, Captain, Major, or Lieutenant Colonel, he's got to stand up there and dish out the old college pep talk about how we're here to do this and that while the boys are snorting to get into town.

"Only this one wasn't so bad. Because at last we were going to do what we had for years been trained to do with our Fortresses. When those reinforcements came streaming in we could go out in big formations and drop a pattern that meant something.

"Later they were to find that Dutch dating wasn't as simple as it looked, because the first three or four times you had to take Mama and Papa along.

"At the end of dinner, before they left, we'd all stood up and drunk just one New Year's toast—to the memory of all those guys we'd known so well back in the islands who couldn't be with us now, and a score the Air Force had to settle in their behalf. Java seemed fat and lush and peaceful, but I knew just ahead of us was terribly hard work, long missions, hitting again and again if we were to hold the Japs back until those thousand American planes arrived."

THE POLITICAL TREND

This department is not afraid of a Fascist government in America. It's afraid of a Croonist regime. Signs indicate a growing danger.

—*—

Down in Louisiana f'rinstance, the next governor, unless all signs fail, will be a fellow who has leaped into fame as a crooner, guitar player and radio entertainer. He is also a Hollywood cowboy actor, which helps when the mob makes an appraisal of the qualities of statesmanship in this gooney era.

—*—

Jimmy Davis who goes around with his guitar singing "You Are My Sunshine," "It Makes No Difference Now," "Nobody's Darling" and a fine selection of corny numbers has won the primary and is as good as elected.

—*—

This is an age of screwball tastes and if the G.O.P. wants to lick Roosevelt it had better run Sinatra and Crosby.

—*—

Statesmanship is of no account today if it doesn't record well for juke boxes.

—*—

Public leadership cannot quickly be established in America without a good list of ballads, some musical instrument and a mike. In Lincoln's day it was "From log cabin to White House." Today it's "From 'Pistol Packin' Mommer' To Any Office Within the Gift of the People!"

—*—

What a candidate used to do with oratory and a statement of beliefs he now does with "Milkman, Keep Those Bottles Quiet" and "All or Nothing at All."

—*—

Both Wendell Willkie and Tom Dewey are making a fatal political mistake in not proclaiming their candidacy through a rendition of:

Mairzy doats and dozy doats
And liddle lambzy divey.

Years ago in order to get the votes for public office in this country a man had to have solid opinions, some experience in public office, a platform and an opinion on the tariff. Now all that is necessary is a Crossley rating.

—*—

Down in Texas the question right now is not "What experience has he ever had in government?" but "How many records did he make in the last year?"

THE BEACH BELOW ROME

Anzio! Just another coastal town! A fair sort of vacation place, sleepy now in winter drabness. A no-account spot in a tough war. That's what you thought, Joe. Maybe, crashing through it, you called it a bum town. Well, you were right in a way. Two great bums lived there once. Couple of guys named Nero and Caligula!

—*—

Nero and Caligula, two of the great bums of history. Bums with color and class, but murderers and torturers and tyrants to a fare-thee-well. They were born around Anzio. The name of the town was changed on 'em to get rid of the bad taste. Maybe, on a pass from hell, their spirits stood there in the shadows along the beaches when the Yanks landed. They were big, noisy brutal guys, Joe, but craven against odds. They must have been pretty scared when they saw you Yanks leaping ashore from landing craft.

Nice guys, Nero and Caligula! They poisoned their wives and kiddies, when they couldn't devise something rougher. They were close to all-time tyrants, but in points they didn't rate up with certain top Nazis. The people caught up with them in time and they got the works. If alive today they would have strung along with Adolf and Benito and Hermann. They were the type. They liked to torture the weak and to kick the helpless around.

Once Caligula held a public banquet in the middle of a bridge for the fun of seeing it collapse, drowning the merrymakers. Hitler would have liked that. Caligula did crazy things. He once appointed his horse consul.

You know all about Nero, Joe. He was the swastika type. Sweet boy, Nero! He poisoned his own mother for what you would call "a dame." He killed his own wife.

A star, Nova Pictoris, has just blown up. Looking down on earth, a star's indignation must be pretty close to the exploding point most of the time these days.

* * *

Some suggestions were recently made to our airmen that they cut out the highly suggestive names painted on some bombers. They were too rough. We have just heard of one result. One of the bombers that has been doing terrific battling over Germany bears the name "Wabbit Twacks."

TELLS HIS CUSTOMERS ABOUT ALL-BRAN

And How It Helped Relieve His Constipation!

Here's a really enthusiastic letter you'll want to read:

"I'd suffered for years with constipation. Took everything from salts to castor oil, and felt run down, always taking so many physics. Then, two weeks ago, I found out about ALL-BRAN. Since I've been eating ALL-BRAN, I have needed no physics, and am starting to feel like a new man. I'm telling my customers on my milk route about your wonderful product." Mr. Leon Swartz, 1738 N. Wilton St., Phila., Pa.

What's the secret of such reports of ALL-BRAN's results? Simply that ALL-BRAN is one of Nature's most effective sources of certain "cellulosic" elements—lack of which in sufficient quantities is a common cause of constipation! They help the friendly colonic flora fluff up and prepare the colonic contents for easy, natural elimination. ALL-BRAN is not a cathartic! It doesn't "sweep you out"! It is a gentle-acting, "regulating" food! If this is your trouble eat ALL-BRAN regularly, drink plenty of water. See if you don't cheer its welcome relief! Insist on genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

More than 25 American automotive companies are making military vehicles for United States soldiers and our Allies—and they have first call on tires and other rubber items.

Forty thousand additional miles have been obtained from individual tires in use at Camp Stoneman because of the tire-saving campaign in force there since rubber became scarce. No tricks—just plain tire care and recapping at the right time.

An 875-pound electric magnet attached to an electric truck "sweeps" the floors of a munitions factory of steel litter and serves the double purpose of salvaging metal and preventing tire punctures.

The Red Cross In Ocean Beach

By ONA E. PITCOCK

Where our invasion forces move forward, the American Red Cross is ready to move with them. In every part of this world conflict you will find the Red Cross. It even goes to the prison camps. Girls picked for their ruggedness, health, driving ability, skill in languages, etc., man club-mobiles establish "doughnut dugouts" just in the rear of the lines. Our boys who have had to lie in foxholes for hours and days at a time know when they can get out that somewhere there will be hot coffee, sandwiches, cigarettes and a word of cheer. Service clubs have been set up in isolated spots. More than 10 million food parcels, toilet and comfort articles, clothing and medical supplies have been sent to our prisoners of war. Oh, I could tell you hundreds of things the Red Cross does in emergencies at home and abroad.

You know of them but do you realize that the Red Cross is you.

Yes, it takes all of us to make up the Red Cross. This year of all years in our history, your services and money are needed. Remember "today we give, that they might live." Give generously to your Red Cross. Give of your blood to save a life. Call F-7704 and make an appointment. Go to the Marine base and make surgical dressings. Call your Ocean Beach branch and see what you can do to help. Keep faith with our boys in service.

One boy from the South Pacific writes, "I am glad to hear you are working with the Red Cross. It really is a fine organization. I am in the Navy Hospital corps and know how much it really does for us boys. I have been in the navy two years and in the marines six months of that time. After the war I plan to go back to school and receive my M.D. but that is a long way off. This will be no short war." Oh, how true that is. It will not be a short war and we have our hardest times and deepest sorrows yet to go through.

This week I want to thank all those who sew so beautifully for Red Cross. Mrs. W. H. Gage and Mrs. Cassidy especially. They sew continually and send in such nice articles. Also I want to thank all those who make our boys so happy by baking cookies. You cannot imagine how those sick boys enjoy them. They take it as a personal gift to them and say it makes them feel at home again. Will you bring in Easter cards or seals for the boxes to go just before Easter. I hope there is a lot of cookies for Easter. I sent in a sewing kit for a special case this week and Miss Nye tells me it was the nicest one she has ever seen. Don't forget our gift basket. Games especially.

There is plenty of yarn and bedside bags at your Ocean Beach Red Cross center. Keep working.

SERVICES FOR MRS. GATES

Mrs. Gates was very active in her church guild and Red Cross. She leaves a sister, Mrs. Clara Thompson, also a resident of Los Angeles. Services were held in Los Angeles Wednesday and in San Diego Thursday at 2 p.m. from Benbough funeral parlors with interment in the family plot at Mt. Hope.

BERTHA K. LEADBEATER

Bayview 6101

Admiral Blakely spoke at the recent central committee meeting stressing the need for the continuance of the block plan. Child care centers should be brought to the attention of working mothers,

At the same meeting, Mrs. Lydia Gray spoke on association for family living—this is a new service here in which they attempt to keep families together who are on the verge of breaking up. Mrs. Gray will be our guest speaker at our April meeting.

With regard to food surpluses—it is our patriotic duty to watch your grocer's advertisements and buy those foods that are plentiful, using and serving them in various ways.

Still a great need for waste paper—Phone M-9070 and they will arrange to pick it up.

We are now having a drive to get Easter cards for the boys at the various hospitals — these cards must be turned in before April 1st.

Also, there is still a big demand for library books for the men.

At our local meeting held at the Assembly of God hall on Monday Mr. Watkins, senior gas officer of OCD, showed a film "What to do in a gas attack," which was very instructive and interesting.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Catherine Roque, block leader in sector K is ill at the Mersy hospital and understand she is expected home shortly.

Chaplain Gatlin of the Naval hospital has called on Civilian Defense for slippers, laprobes and shoulder shawls.

Our next local meeting will be held April 10th — Assembly of God, Cape May and Ebers. May I extend an invitation to all those who can attend, for in order to continue these monthly meetings, with an interesting guest speaker, it will be necessary to have a better turnout.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Peltier of Los Angeles attended the funeral services of George Armistead. They were friends of 30 years standing.

Larson-Riese Rites In Lutheran Church

Miss Lois Riese, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Riese, 4554 Niagara, was claimed as bride by Jack Larson, U.S.N., of Houston, Tex., last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in the Bethany Lutheran chapel. The Rev. Martin Lankow, pastor, officiated.

The altar was candlelighted and beautifully decorated with pastel flowers. The nuptial music was played by Mrs. Sarah Riese, the bride's sister-in-law. Viola Hensel sang "Oh, Perfect Love."

The bride, given away by her father, was gowned in white brocaded satin entrain, with long flowing lace-edged tulle veil held in place by a beaded cornette. She carried white gladioli and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Harry Zuehlsborf, the bride's sister, as matron of honor, wore yellow marquisette and carried a wedding ring of yellow sweetpeas and talisman roses.

Ruth Krampert of Kenosha, Wis., as bridesmaid, wore blue brocaded taffeta and carried blue sweetpeas and pink roses.

The bride's 11-year-old sister, Donna Mae Riese, as junior bridesmaid, was frocked in aqua tulle, and carried a bouquet of orchid sweetpeas and pink roses.

Flower girls were the bride's nieces, Geraldine Riese, who carried an old fashioned bouquet, and two-year-old Lois Riese, who scattered petals from a flower basket. They both wore floor-length pink dotted-swiss frocks.

Herman Riese was best man and Charles Crawford, ushered.

A wedding reception for 150 guests held at the home of the bride's parents, followed the ceremony. Decorations were in pink and white. A beautiful three-tiered brides cake centered the table which held white roses and white sweetpeas. Mrs. Riese wore powder blue and gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Larson was graduated from Pt. Loma high school last June and Mr. Larson graduated from Melby high school, Houston, Tex.

The newlyweds are residing at 4774 Bermuda ave. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Gus Riese and Mrs. Charles Dix and son Dennis of Milwaukee, Wis., and Mrs. Elsa Creighton of Los Angeles.
